

Prodema Medical attending at Achema in Frankfurt

It was a busy week in the beautiful city of Frankfurt, Germany, where over 180.000 people from 100 countries attended at the 29th international trade fair Achema. Prodema Medical was there as a proud partner of Telsonic Ultrasonics, the Swiss manufacturer of ultrasonic equipment.

“We are pleased to cooperate with such an innovative company”, director of Prodema Medical Christian Spenger says.

The use of sonochemistry, ultrasound process technology for the activation and acceleration of processes in chemistry and biotechnology, has increased rapidly in the past years since many new applications have been discovered. Crystallization, extraction, mixing and activation (or deactivation) are a few areas of ultrasound that increase efficiency in not only industrial processes. A big challenge for Prodema Medical now is to find new partners for mutual long term relationships.

“Achema was very rewarding and Prodema Medical is now undergoing rapid expansion in all business areas. The most important thing in times like this is to only work with extremely competent people, the best in the world”, Prof. Dr. Med. Spenger tells us with a satisfied smile.
